Registration Process and Important Dates

To register for the SAT, students can visit the College Board website at <https://www.collegeboard.org/>. The registration process typically opens several months prior to the test date.

It is important to note the registration deadlines mentioned in the table above. Failing to register before the deadline may result in a late registration fee or, in some cases, missing the desired test date.

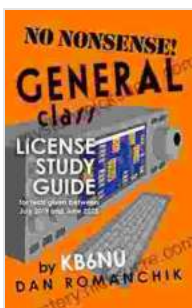

Score Release Dates

The College Board typically releases SAT scores within 10-14 days after the test date. However, it is important to check the specific score release date for each test date as it may vary slightly.

Additional Information

- Students are encouraged to register for the SAT as early as possible to secure their preferred test date and avoid any potential issues or delays.
- The SAT is offered in both school day and weekend administrations. School day administrations are typically held on weekdays at schools, while weekend administrations are held on Saturdays at designated testing centers.
- Students who have registered for the SAT but need to reschedule or cancel their registration can do so through the College Board website.
- The College Board provides a variety of resources and support materials for SAT preparation, including practice tests, study guides, and online courses.

By being aware of the SAT test dates for July 2024 to June 2025, students can effectively plan their preparation and registration process. Timely registration and a structured study plan will help students maximize their chances of achieving their desired SAT score and secure a competitive edge in the college admissions process.
